

Tammy O'Connor, the CEO of Red River Solutions has twenty plus years of staffing industry experience. Her roles have included positions such as Agency Manager, Recruiting Manager, Director of Business Development and Vice President of Operations. Her attention to detail and commitment to customer service has enabled her to build strong relationships with clients. She believes that relationship building is paramount to the service industry and that relationships must be nurtured before they result in successful placements.

Prior to co-founding Red River Solutions, O'Connor's main focus in information technology was selling Oracle consulting services, which she did for over five years in Dallas/ Ft. Worth and nationally. Prior to her entry into the technology arena, Tammy's experience was in the healthcare field where she successfully managed a division of a large corporation that placed physicians on temporary assignments throughout the United States. She was responsible for the day-to-day operations of this division and managed many of their large government contracts where her team was responsible for on-going physician coverage. She also has three plus years experience managing a placement agency, where she was responsible for placing candidates on a permanent basis in the Dallas/ Ft. Worth area.

O'Connor attended the University of Oklahoma where she pursued her Bachelor of Business Administration, with an emphasis in Business Management. She was a finalist in 2008 for the E&Y Entrepreneur of the Year (Southwest Region), and is an active member of the Woman's Business Council. She is also a committee member for the Dallas Chapter of TechServe (formerly NACCB).
